Objectives and activities

The objective of the charity is to promote sustainable healthcare in Burkina Faso.

We are pleased to report continued progress in the year with the polyclinic in Bobo Dioulasso which finally opened in August 2014. We have started by offering a basic consultancy service and in parallel continue to spend considerable time on the IT platform. We have also arranged and started funding two medics who will specialise over the next 3 years in cardiology and paediatrics; a third, in ophthalmology, will start in early 2015. We are determined to continue developing the human resource in this way.

We have also invested significantly in our website (www.burkinahealthfoundation.org) as we believe that this will be important as we look to the next stage of growth of the foundation.

Financial review

Significant donations in the year were promptly deployed, both at the polyclinic level and at the company level as we reinvested in our website and marketing effort.

Reserves and Risk Management

Due to the still relatively limited activities of the charity in the financial year ending 26th June 2013, the unrestricted nature of the funds received to date and the anticipated adequacy of funding for the current year, the Trustees have yet to formalise the reserves and risk management policies. This will be addressed as the activities and responsibilities of the charity continue to develop.

Aidan de Brunner
